

Changing the default Language in GroupWise 5.x

A common experience of non-US based GroupWise users is that when they try to use the spell checker it defaults to US English rather than to the language that was specified during the installation and configuration of GroupWise.

To add to the problem, finding out how to change that default is not obvious at all. For most users the obvious place to look for such a setting is under Tools \ Options \ Environment, and that is where they go and look for it, but No, the GroupWise designers felt it should be a challenge and put it in a place where most users never ever think to look !

So, if your default language is not US English and you wish to change the default, do as follows :

- Open a new Mail Message.
- Place the cursor in either the Subject field or in the Message Body of the message window, but not in the "To" field.
- Choose the Tools \ Writing Tools Language menu option.
- Choose the language which you would like to have as your default language.
- Click OK.
- You're done. From now on the default language for your GroupWise environment will be the one you just chose.
